

Salvis Smartline – it simply can't get more flexible

Fresh food is everywhere! Whether a company canteen, football stadium, shopping centre or pasta restaurant on a sunny terrace, fresh food is a must in every kitchen. Salvis has the largest range of mobile thermal and neutral cooking units for every fresh food solution, either built into the Salvis furniture range, for example, or as plug-in tabletop units.

Oftringen, 06 March 2017: The Salvis Smartline Griddle 800 30th anniversary model is our flexible, modular solution for the front-cooking kitchen. Front-cooking virtuosos truly appreciate the large, high-quality, corrosion- and wear-resistant surface made of 1.2316 steel. The exceptional performance includes superb frying and browning with minimal loss of heat and maximum ease of cleaning. The pressed-in heating elements guarantee optimum and economical transfer of energy.

Flexible and swappable

Salvis can provide the right unit for every need with this modular product range. Designed with standard dimensions, the individual modules always deliver the right solution for any combination of menus.

Grill, pasta, wok, potato rosti or fish – the modules can be swapped easily, as necessary.

Salvis Smartline gives you the flexibility to respond to new trends, consumer preferences and seasonal availability without a big financial investment. The cooking functions come in 30 different modules that are available as tabletop and integrated designs.

Standard sizes

Salvis Smartline cooking units all have compatible dimensions. This means customers get an optimum workflow and uniform look even with variable configurations. Uniform dimensions make planning your cooking lines child's play. Salvis Smartline units come with the latest technology for efficient, reliable and economical cooking.

Tried-and-tested technology with a new design

The concept has been tried and tested and constantly revised for more than 20 years already.

The technology and functions are bang up-to-date for both users and servicing.

The Salvis Smartline units are also available with elegant, modern front panels in grey/white.
